

Alexis Basantis: This project enabled Ms. Basantis to develop an entire research study from the ground up. This involved creating the concept of the study, developing hypotheses, designing the experiment, writing protocols, overseeing data collection, and performing all data analysis. She was involved at the highest level in each step of the process and was able to prove herself as a highly capable researcher. Through this project she was able to conduct this research and was awarded a master's degree for her efforts.