Zihang Wei

This project helped me a lot in understanding how to write systematic literature review. I also leant how to use Latex for writing a comprehensive literature review paper. At the same time, I got familiar with Zotero platform for managing references. My experience with ArcGIS has been improved by learning data conflation works with big data. I have also learnt how to use Google Colab and R based knitr platform to produce replicable research results.

Valerie Vierkant

In this project, I gained experience collecting and processing data. I also gained experience using Zotero for managing references in systemic literature reviews. I developed more skills in effectively and concisely editing papers.